Dear MDI friends,

2022 was an exceptional year for MDI. There were some ups and downs as order volume fluctuated with a key customer, but our team stayed resilient. We hold an immense feeling of gratitude to MDI employees, partners, and supporters who helped us impact 1,146 mission lives.

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

Throughout the year, we focused on putting people first and staying customer centric. This allowed us to deliver consistent results across all lines of business. MDI ended the year with 529 employees (42% of whom were people with disabilities) and $40.3M in revenue.

Commercial sales stayed strong, and we installed a new $3.2M polypropylene extruder in Grand Rapids, Minnesota. Overseas shipping and installation created delays, but our team remained diligent. MDI is now extruding quality, sellable polypropylene board. We couldn't have made this happen without generous grants from the Blandin Foundation, the IRRRB, Enbridge, Otto Bremer Trust and Minnesota Power Foundation. This investment will increase MDI's offerings and market competitiveness while generating new jobs across Northern Minnesota.

Outside MDI, workforce shortage issues continued to loom across Minnesota and the U.S. This fueled the need for innovative training solutions, such as Unified Work. This program, funded by foundations and grants, is designed to help individuals develop soft skills to make them more workforce-ready. Over the last year, MDI piloted mobile in-person classes in seven communities across three states with over 158 participants. We're happy to report 42% of survey respondents have successfully secured a job. We look forward to 2023, as the program expands to include S.T.E.(A).M, virtual reality, and online learning courses.

Our goal is to impact 2,500 lives by 2025. We are grateful for your partnership and support that makes our work possible. Thanks to you, MDI is proof that our differences make us stronger and inclusion makes us better.

Eric Black, President & CEO

Investing back into our local communities.

Community is at the heart of what we do. MDI lives out our mission and values to the best of our ability. Each year, we give back through workforce development, volunteering, advocating and community relations.

1). Advocated at the State Capitol for funding to expand Unified Work programming. 2). Teamed up with Special Olympics, MN for the Polar Plunge to raise money. 3). MN House & Senate hearing conducted in support of state funding. 4). Dayle Klebs awarded Kaylee Caron a $1,500 scholarship. 5). Sponsored Hibbing Area Chamber of Commerce: Trunk or Treat. 6). Built new community partners.

Some people make headlines, while others make history.

As a nonprofit, online presence is everything because it raises awareness for MDI and those we serve. From news articles to thought leadership to collaborative posts, our digital channels help us broaden our reach.

It's not just a job,
it's a place to develop job skills
and grow.

MDI's mission is about more than jobs, it's creating an environment for employees to grow. Through skills training and development, and now the John Durand Management Academy, employees can gain life long skills on-the-job, in the classroom, or at community businesses.

Jared Perez HAND ASSEMBLER, MINNEAPOLIS

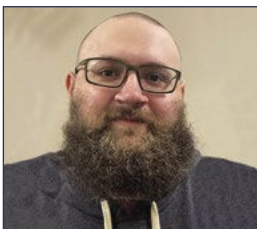

Quality inspection for roof shingles is no easy task. It requires precision, memory, self-sufficiency and attention to detail. Jared has become one of MDI's most reliable shingle testers. With on-the-job training and support, his social skills have improved. His eye for details has become keener, which has made him more observant. And most importantly, his job at MDI has provided a major boost to his overall confidence.

Austen Brown JOB COACH, COHASSET

Everyone has their own unique strengths and skills. When Austen thinks about his, he knows pretty quickly: He's a helper. As part of the first Unified Work Academy course cohort, Austen learned valuable interview strategies, proper workplace conduct and people skills - including how to communicate with co-workers, use of body language to de-escalate situations and direct coworkers in helpful ways. Unified Work has given him the opportunity to move up quickly and purchase his first home!

Forrest Jokela ASSEMBLER, HIBBING

For some people, a job is just a place where they spend their weekdays working in return for a paycheck. For Forrest, his job is so much more. It's where he connects with friends. Attending the first Unified Work Academy course introduced him to new people and taught him important team building skills, allowing him to get to know his co-workers better and helped him feel more comfortable and confident.

Empower Develop Employ

At MDI, we empower people with disabilities by providing meaningful work opportunities to promote success and independence. Through job coaching, training and skill development, people with disabilities cultivate tools for life-long personal growth and self-sufficiency.

MDI employees Devin Guilfoyle, Terry Brent, Drew Seabold, Jeanne Eglinton, and Linda Zmuda gave state Representative Sydney Jordan a tour of MDI's Minneapolis facility.
